THE EGYPTIAN GAZETTE.

AUGUST 1, 1883.

THE EGYPTIAN GAZETTE.

The Egyptian Gazette is a weekly newspaper published in Cairo, Egypt. It covers news, politics, and events in Egypt and the Middle East. Here is a brief overview of its contents:

- News and Politics: The newspaper covers local and international news, politics, and events in Egypt and the Middle East.
- Business and Economy: It includes news about business and economics, such as economic policies, finance, and trade.
- Culture and Society: The newspaper also covers cultural and social events, such as social issues, art, and entertainment.
- Sports: It includes news about sports events in Egypt and the Middle East.

The Egyptian Gazette is one of the oldest newspapers in Egypt, dating back to the 19th century. It has played a significant role in the country's history and has been a key source of information for the public. The newspaper is published in Arabic and English, and it has a wide readership across Egypt and the Middle East. Its coverage includes news from local organizations and events, such as the Egyptian National Committee for Human Rights and the Egyptian Voluntary Citizens Committee. The newspaper also features news and information about the Egyptian government, the judiciary, and the military.
On that occasion the two rival coteries combined and grinding despotism had been removed without lous energy of the nominal ruler. A vigorous, in the demonstration against Nubar Pasha and convenient foreign element from the Ministry, and leaned to the side of the Turco-Circassians. precaution against insurrection.
