The Government of Egypt, accordingly, having considered carefully the demands of foreign Powers, has determined to receive the claims presented by them against the Egyptian Government, which have been received in application of the Convention of 29th October 1881, and has chosen in the sequel a course of action which is worthy of the confidence of the Powers, and which will enable it to elucidate the principles on which it is based, as well as to define the lines on which the Government proposes, in accordance with the provisions of the Convention, to avert the immediate danger of a conflict between the Egyptian Government and the Powers, while at the same time it will be a step towards the establishment of a friendly and prosperous intercourse between Egypt and the Powers.
